

DHI advises on requirements for documentation of the composition and safety of cosmetics, including declarations and assessment of health effects and impacts.

DHI offers suppliers and producers of cosmetics to prepare labelling and documentation for cosmetic products in accordance with today's standards. DHI is a good partner for companies producing or distributing cosmetics because:

- DHI has detailed knowledge of the cosmetics legislation in the European Union and thorough knowledge of legislation for related products such as herbal medicines and medical devices.
- DHI clarifies if a given cosmetic product is legal and prepares documents and guidelines in relevant languages. All information on product composition is treated confidentially.
- DHI's knowledge of legislation gives rapid and efficient access to many markets – and secures that the labelling lives up to the national requirements.

DHI offers:

- Preparation of the full dossier
- Toxicological assessment of ingredients and the formulated products, e.g. for safety assessments in dossiers
- Declaration of ingredients in accordance with INCI
- Assessment, labelling and notification pursuant to national cosmetics executive orders
- Safety data sheets of cosmetics for professional use
- Toxicological risk assessments
- Advanced models for exposure scenarios
- Advanced simulation methods
- Thorough knowledge of hormone disrupting and sensitising substances.

