

Benefit from quality data fitting your needs

Multinational corporation or small one-man business? You still have to supply your customers with a Safety Data Sheet.

At the core of Safety Data Sheet authoring is a good reliable source of regulatory data on chemicals and a comprehensive multilingual phrase library.

It is as simple as that!

Business scenarios

- Your company has its own homemade highly customised IT solution for managing chemicals and authoring documents. But do you have the time and resources to stay on top of regulatory developments?
- You are considering buying a commercially available IT solution for chemicals management and document authoring. But can you afford to buy new software without considering the contents?
- Your small business cannot afford a large software package and you feel just as comfortable authoring documents in MS Word or Excel. But can you author in languages you do not speak?

DHI solutions

- Individual lists on classification, substance names, Exposure limits, CAS and EINECS nos. etc.
- Phrase modules with 3000+ phrases in more than 35 languages
- GHS phrases
- Subscription to updates
- Translation of company specific phrases

Lists and phrase modules are offered to industry directly for use in their IT systems or as a licensed product supplied through software developed by our international partners.

